Erland

Burlington, MA Erland Construction established two new groups as a part of the company's growing expertise in the advanced technology/life sciences and special projects markets. Dan Cobb is the group manager for the advanced technology/life sciences group and Daryl Leland has been appointed as the group manager of the special projects/strategic accounts group.

Dan Cobb - advanced technology/life sciences group manager . Over the past two years, Cobb has continuously led his team to success on some of the industry's most technologically sophisticated and logistically complex projects. His complete understanding of the specialized needs of these clients makes Cobb the natural choice to lead the standalone group for advanced technology/life sciences.

Daryl Leland - special projects/strategic accounts group manager. In just three years, Leland has substantially grown the special project group's client list and portfolio. His ability to oversee a multi-skilled team and broad range of services, with the client-centric approach Erland is known for, has led to the creation of a dedicated group for special projects/strategic accounts.
