Wayne J. Griffin Electric celebrates anniversary with employees and families

November 16, 2018 - Construction Design & Engineering

Holliston, MA Wayne J. Griffin Electric, Inc. (Griffin Electric) officially celebrated a major 40-year anniversary by hosting summer outings for its hardworking employees and their families in each of its regional locations, having reached this milestone as a leading electrical subcontractor throughout New England and the Southeast. The company has built its reputation as a trusted electrical merit shop and most recently ranked 24th in Engineering News Record's (ENR) 2018 listing of the top 50 national electrical contractors and 1st in New England.

Griffin Electric held outings in all four of its Southeast locations in June, while the outing for New England took place in early August. A well-deserved break for the men and women of the Griffin team, these events brought both field and office employees together and were an opportunity for the company to show them just how valued and appreciated they are. WJGEI raffled off some amazing prizes to employees, both on a regional as well as company-wide basis. The special 40-Year Anniversary Grand Prizes, which were drawn at the New England outing, included several vacation packages, gift certificates, cash prizes, an additional week of paid vacation, and more!

With typically over 200 active jobsites at any given time across New England and its four regional office locations in North Carolina, Alabama, and Georgia, the company has achieved nearly $5 billion in revenue over the past four decades. The Griffin team serves clients in markets ranging from commercial, education and municipal to medical, industrial, and transportation.

In order to stay ahead of the curve, the company stresses the importance of continual education, growth, and development, starting with their in-house Apprenticeship Training Program, which is in its 25th year of existence. Griffin Electric strives to consistently "provide a higher level of quality, safety, commitment and value for its customers and employees," which has allowed the company to build long-standing relationships and secure repeat business with notable clients such as Dell EMC, Amazon, Liberty Mutual Insurance, U.S. Army, Biogen, and many others.

Fostering relationships with general contractors, project owners, vendors, and especially the company's employees is what founder and president Wayne Griffin credits for the company's success over the years. "Our people are our most important asset," said Griffin. "From the office to the field, our team is comprised of dedicated men and women who are ultimately the foundation of strength for the company and allow us to deliver the best results for our clients."
