Brady joins NKF as an associate director of management services - based in Stamford, CT office

January 18, 2019 - Connecticut

James Brady

Stamford, CT According to Newmark Knight Frank (NKF), 22-year commercial real estate professional James Brady has joined the firm as an associate director of management services. Brady will be responsible for NKF's property management operations and staff in Connecticut. He will report to regional director of management services Eric Stone.

In addition to his property management leadership role, Brady will work with NKF's leasing and investment sales professionals to grow the management portfolio, cross-sell NKF's services, build new client relationships and advise owners on strategies for maximizing efficiency and the value of their properties.

"We are thrilled to have Jim join our team and contribute to the exciting growth NKF has seen throughout the greater Connecticut markets recently," said Stone. "His experience and diverse skills will be tremendous assets in identifying new opportunities for business with our brokers and ensuring our clients continue to receive unparalleled service and attention."

Brady has a, well-recognized background in managing assets and cultivating prosperous, long-lasting relationships, as well as delivering results across a range of asset types, including office, retail and luxury residential. Prior to joining NKF, he worked with Lexham Private Investors, LLC, where he was responsible for the management and operating performance of all assets held across the firm.

"With its expansive, global range of client-focused resources, NKF was a huge opportunity for me to deliver property services," said Brady. "I'm really excited about the opportunity to help continue to foster growth in NKF's property management portfolio."
