Stuart-Buckley joins M&S Development as development director

March 01, 2019 - Northern New England

Katie Stuart-Buckley,
M&S Development

Brattleboro, VT M&S Development welcomes Katie Stuart-Buckley to their team as development director. Stuart-Buckley's experience as a municipal official, housing developer, and most recently as the commissioner of housing & community development in the Agency of Commerce & Community Development for the state, means she is qualified to support the M&S mission of Empowering Community Revitalization. As development director, she will lead M&S' efforts to provide real estate development, capital sourcing, and deal-structuring services to projects which benefit economically challenged communities.

According to Stuart-Buckley, "The key to unlocking the rural economy is the revitalization of our historic downtowns and villages. At M&S, we work to reimagine Main Street for the 21st century by creating places for people of all ages and incomes to live, work and play."
