2019 Women in Construction: Jessica Randolph, Project Manager at SGA

March 29, 2019 - Spotlights

How many years have you been in your current field? 20

What was your first job and what did you learn from it? From the time I was twelve and through high school, I worked for my mother as an assistant in her small business services company. I learned that there were going to be tasks I didn't like to do in life, but it was still necessary to do them. I was "fired" five times and had to renegotiate the expectations of employment each time I was rehired. I still don't like filing!
