Patel joins Gienapp Architects

November 15, 2019 - Construction Design & Engineering

Juhi Patel

Danvers, MA Juhi Patel has joined Gienapp Architects as an architectural designer. She has a Bachelor of Architecture degree from Sarvajanic College of Engineering & Technology and a Master of Architecture from Northeastern University. She will be assisting the firm with the development of AutoCAD and Revit drawings and pre-design studies.

Patel was raised in Surat, India.

“It’s great to be part of the Gienapp Architects team. I enjoy being able to be involved in every stage of a project, and I’m inspired by the creativity of the wonderful people working with me. I’m very happy to be here,” said Patel.

“We’re very excited to have Juhi join us. We were impressed with her portfolio of work from her professional degrees and internships. Her talent and experience with the latest green and software technologies have allowed her to immediately make significant contributions on our skilled Building Information Modeling (BIM) team,” said Gienapp Architects principal, Dale Gienapp, AIA.
