Simon signs Stretch Lab and Relax The Back at Burlington Mall

December 20, 2019 - Retail

Burlington, MA According to Simon, Stretch Lab and Relax The Back will join The Village at Burlington Mall in 2020.

Stretch Lab will offer one-on-one assisted stretching and flexibility training classes. Stretch Lab is revolutionizing ways to increase your flexibility and range of motion. The trained Flexologists will also conduct innovative group sessions for all fitness levels no matter what your range of motion is.

Another personal service set to open in 2020 that specializes in total body wellness with more than 90 stores throughout North America and Canada will be Relax The Back. Clients will enjoy personalized experiences coupled with education and product solutions that address their unique needs. The dedicated staff will take the necessary approach for their clients to ensure they live healthier, happier lives.

“This next wave of personal services will complement the mix of fast casual dining and retail concepts that have arrived at The Village at Burlington Mall. It’s an exciting time at Burlington Mall as we recently announced an extensive interior and exterior transformation. We look forward to all of these enhancements and elevating the overall experience at the center,” said Justin Feldhouse, general manager, Burlington Mall.

The Village at Burlington Mall most recently welcomed Gyu-Kaku (Japanese BBQ) and uBreakiFix as part of phase one of the transformational redevelopment at Burlington Mall.

Additional details including other new retail concepts, exterior improvements and more will be announced throughout the duration of the multi phased project.
