Built in 1889 by the firm of Stone, Carpenter, & Willson, the Joseph E. Fletcher House is a historic gem sitting on over half an acre of landscaped grounds in College Hill. This Queen Ann enjoys over 9,000 s/f of living space, two au pair suites with their own separate rear entrance and stairway, and a generous carriage house. The main foyer welcomes all to this home with a captivating double staircase and detailed craftsmanship like the original English oak-paneled walls, and a gold-leaf coffered ceiling. This beautiful artisan work is present throughout the entire estate including all six bedrooms and the arched ballroom featuring a balcony overlooking the muraled walls, custom built-in wet bar, and dining alcove.
