2020 Women Who Build Spotlight: Diana Lanser, TSKP Studio

February 21, 2020 - Connecticut

Diana Lanser, Project Manager at TSKP Studio

How many years have you been in your current field? 26 years

Which project, deal, or transaction was the “game changer” in the advancement of your career during the last 10 years? I am originally from Peru, so working as an architect in the USA gave me a new perspective on the way we design/develop projects. Very different methods of construction and construction process. The quality control of the construction in the USA is impressive. The project that was a game changer was the American School for the Deaf for so many reasons!

What would you tell your daughter about entering this profession? This is a beautiful profession, where we have the opportunity to combine art with science.
