Venkat joins SGA as senior interior designer

April 17, 2020 - Construction Design & Engineering

Deepa Venkat

Boston, MA Deepa Venkat, LEED AP, IIDA, NCIDQ has joined SGA's higher education team as a senior interior designer.

Venkat has over 14 years of experience designing workplaces, higher education facilities, residence halls, multifamily residential and K-12.

"We are very excited to add Deepa to our growing higher education and academic facilities team," said Al Spagnolo, AIA, NCARB, founding partner and president of SGA. "Her client-driven approach inspires communication and a shared purpose among clients and project team members."

Venkat holds a Bachelor of Architecture and NCIDQ certification. She is also LEED AP and certified CSI Construction Document Technologist. She is currently pursuing NCARB certification.

"What attracted me to SGA was its reputation as one of the top architectural practices in the nation known for its creative and out-of-the-box design ideas for academic facilities," said Venkat. "I am looking forward to working with the SGA team and our clients."

Specializing in interior architecture and design, Venkat is well-versed through all phases of design and furniture planning projects. She seeks inspiration from multiple project typologies to envision solutions. She enjoys leading a collaborative design process with contractors, manufacturers, and craftspeople to create innovative features for client and project needs.

Outside the work, Venkat is a vice president of the Professional Development Committee and board member at the New England chapter of IIDA.
