Jewett Construction presents the Construction Safety Excellence Award to superintendent Blais

September 04, 2020 - Front Section

Raymond, NH Jewett Construction has presented the Jewett Construction Safety Excellence Award to superintendent Wayne Blais. The Safety Excellence Award is presented to employees that follow good safety behaviors, drive Jewett’s safety standards on project sites, and go above and beyond to ensure that Jewett is the safest contractor in the region.

Superintendent Blais has a proven track record of job site safety. He works hard to drive the schedule while keeping his sites safe and clean. In 2020, Blais’s job sites have consistently proven to focus on safety with great scores from the routine CRM inspections. He is currently on Jewett Construction’s PH Electric project in Plaistow, N.H.

Alain LeBlanc field operations manager at Jewett, said, “At Jewett Construction, safety is priority number one on-site and we proudly embrace a safety culture by empowering all of our employees to adhere to safe work practices.”
