GZA GeoEnvironmental opens expanded office at 530 Broadway St.

September 11, 2008 - Rhode Island

GZA GeoEnvironmental, Inc. has relocated their Providence offices to 530 Broadway St.

The company offices occupy all of the space in the 3-story brick building. The new expanded office space will accommodate the staff of more than 50 professionals and allows for expanded staff as the firm continues its growth in Rhode Island. The office serves industrial, commercial, financial, public service and government clients from around the area.

"Our presence in Rhode Island has grown along with our reputation for providing outstanding services and individualized solutions for our clients," said William Beloff, president and CEO of GZA GeoEnvironmental. "We are pleased by our growth in this region and we congratulate our staff on their continued excellent work on behalf of our clients."
