QA+M appoints Davis as new associate

February 19, 2021 - Connecticut

Jason Davis

Farmington, CT Quisenberry Arcari Malk, LLC (QA+M Architecture) has appointed architect Jason Davis, AIA, LEED AP to associate.

Principal David Quisenberry said, "We commend Jason for the significant contributions he makes to the firm's success. He demonstrates great leadership with his core expertise, client management, and new business acquisition."

A graduate of Vermont Technical College, Davis joined the QA+M team in 2017.

Davis manages all aspects and phases of design and construction administration. He is a true collaborator and strategic thinker who advances QA+M's expertise by connecting the right resources to specific client opportunities. Davis recently helped secure a $32 million renovation project at Bristol City Hall.

QA+M Architecture's range of services includes site selection, programming, architectural design, interior architecture, feasibility studies, and construction services for clients in the municipal, education, housing, healthcare, arts and culture, corporate, and historic preservation markets.
