Jewett Construction holds groundbreaking at PromoCentric

October 22, 2021 - Construction Design & Engineering

Newmarket, NH On September 30th, Jewett Construction held a groundbreaking to celebrate the expansion project for PromoCentric.

Two additions are being added to Promocentric's existing space to allow for the continued growth of PromoCentric as they have now outgrown two facilities during their company history.

They will also be using some of the new addition as leasable space for industrial and manufacturing tenants. The two additions, one being 11,445 s/f and the other 12,610 s/f, feature a 28 clear height and new loading dock areas.

PromoCentric commits themselves to their employees, customers, and community to provide a full-service marketing company that aims to promote brands with an array of promotional gear solutions. They pride themselves in being a company that puts people first and have chosen to build their new expansion with aims of better serving their customer's needs.

“Over the last few years, we have become very close to Jewett Construction. Our company has grown quite a bit, so when we decided we needed more space we knew exactly who to call. We couldn't be happier to work with our friends at Jewett,” said Justin Gray, president of PromoCentric.

Jewett Construction is always honored to showcase their design-build and construction management capabilities. They love to work on jobs where they have developed strong relationships and truly enjoy helping other businesses to grow and succeed.

Jewett is a family-owned construction management company with a 49-year history in N.E. Jewett specializes in commercial construction projects in the office, manufacturing, retail and automotive sectors.
