Bulfinch Companies, Inc. hires Arsenault as senior vice president, director of property management

November 05, 2021 - Owners Developers & Managers

Boston, MA The Bulfinch Companies, Inc. (Bulfinch) has hired Julia Arsenault as the firm's senior vice president, director of property management. The news of Arsenault's appointment follows Bulfinch's recent slate of strategic hires across the firm as it maintains strong momentum in alignment with its Drive to 2025 initiative focused on disciplined portfolio expansion, team growth and wellness, tenant experience, and sustainability.

Arsenault comes to Bulfinch with more than 20 years of real estate and property management experience. Most recently, she served as the Regional Accounts Manager for ABM Industries where she was responsible for building value for customers and helping them achieve their business objectives through innovative facility service solutions. Prior to ABM, Arsenault spent nearly 15 years at Boston Properties as a senior property manager where she managed a 2.3 million s/f portfolio consisting of an iconic class A office tower, as well as oversaw annual operating budgets of more than $50 million. Additionally, Arsenault has held property management positions at Cushman & Wakefield and Paradigm Properties.

"We are excited to welcome Julia to the firm and look forward to leveraging her deep knowledge and significant expertise to further strengthen Bulfinch's property management team," said Robert Schlager, president of Bulfinch.

"We pride ourselves on delivering the best-in-class tenant experience, and with Julia joining the team, our efforts to elevate the workplace environment will continue to grow and attract top-tier customers."
