Portsmouth, NH JSA Design principal Tracy Kozak AIA, LEED AP, is establishing ARCoVe Architects, an independent, specialty consulting practice. Starting in January, she will transition away from JSA but remain a consultant to the firm on a variety of projects. ARCoVe will focus on high-performance sustainable design and historic preservation services.

“This new venture builds on my more than 27 years of experience and growth at JSA Design,” said Kozak. “I’m excited to be an additional resource to JSA and amplify the firm’s services going forward.

“Tracy’s extensive sustainable design and historic preservation experience complements the services we offer across all of our design studios,” said JSA Design CEO North Sturtevant. “Together, our combined expertise offers a greater depth of services for our clients. We look forward to continued project collaborations with Tracy.”
