Darien, CT Federal Realty Investment Trust has released the first 25 residential homes for lease at Darien Commons. The 122 luxury apartments, above an array of new-to-market retailers and services and within steps of the Noroton Heights Metro-North train station, are slated for move-ins beginning this summer.

“The homes here at Darien Commons answer a pent-up demand for high-quality, new construction rentals with convenient regional access,” said Patrick McMahon, senior vice president, regional development for Federal. “The combination of thoughtful design with a variety of dining, services and experiences on the ground-level will appeal to existing Darienites and those looking to move to this charming seaside town.”

The Darien Commons residences offer one-bedroom and two-bedroom units. Kitchens and baths feature quartz countertops and shaker cabinets alongside GE appliances and gas ranges, showers with glass enclosures, and in-home washers and dryers. Beyond the homes, residents can also access an intimate resident-only courtyard retreat, a fireside lounge, a communal dining area with entertaining kitchen and beer tap and an on-site gym. A convenient guest suite will be available to rent to accommodate residents with visiting family and friends.

The entire development is designed to highlight thoughtful amenities, including a curated lending library of must-have items to help residents have fun, get fit, and be well-equipped for whatever adventures they might desire. Available items will include a toolbox, board games, small kitchen appliances, MINI Big Green Egg, Yeti coolers and other outdoor accessories to enjoy.

The apartment homes provide a highly convenient experience for residents and visitors, including resident-only below-grade parking and easy highway access.
