Energy North Group begins Gold Member sponsorship of Women in Energy

April 01, 2022 - Owners Developers & Managers

Lawrence, MA Energy North Group (ENG) is proud to present its Gold Member sponsorship of the national association of Women in Energy. The association was founded by various reputable and longstanding members of the oil and energy industries. Its goal is to connect and empower women in the industry and to provide them with education, mentorship and growth opportunities.

As a Gold Member of Women in Energy, ENG can post employment opportunities on the association's job board, working to increase the diversity of its employee base and create job opportunities for more women in the industry. ENG's employees also have access to the wide array of resources and events that the association produces. One such event is the annual Women in Energy Conference, which will take place in the spring. Energy North Group's own Christine Griffin is a panel speaker at the event. There, she will lead a presentation on the Styles of Communication and offer insights for attendees to improve their own communication skills.

"This is an excellent opportunity for all of us at Energy North Group," said Pat O'Connell, executive vice president, ENG.

"Our partnership with Women in Energy will help us as we continue to fill key leadership roles within our workforce and grow as an industry leader."
