Overlooking Lynn Harbor, Breakwater replaces the former site of Beacon-Bel Chevrolet that was vacant for over 35 years. With two architecturally distinguished buildings fronting a harbor walk, the community offers scenic overlooks and naturalistic planting. Building A includes 219 units in five stories over two levels of parking and 8,600 s/f of leasing office space and amenity offerings on the first floor and second floor. Building B includes 112 units in four stories over one level of parking.

This transit oriented multi-family project was successfully delivered by the HDS/Callahan design/build team on time and on budget. Multiple environmental agencies and regulators had oversight on this project including DCR, MEPA, Chapter 91 and FEMA.

“This was a challenging project for us with all the setback, height and flood zone requirements, said Hans Strauch, principal at HDS. “At the end of the day we were able to create something special with a waterfront resort feel.”
