Samantha Mullin

Concord, NH North Branch Construction has welcomed two new project engineers to their staff. Andrew Young, employed with the company since 2020 as a carpenter, has moved into the role of project engineer. North Branch Construction also welcomed Samantha Mullin as a project engineer.

“Andrew and Sam are great additions to our Project Engineer team. We are very excited about the energy and enthusiasm these new additions each bring to the team at North Branch Construction,” said Joseph Campbell, North Branch Construction president. “As our company continues to grow, they will have great opportunities to make a positive impact on the projects we build here in New Hampshire.”
