"On our 30th anniversary in 2023, we reflect on the successes of these past few years, which we believe exemplifies our company's hard work and the partnerships we form with our clients" said Anthony Samuels, president and CEO of DRB Facility Services. "Our mission to provide quality services is supported by our investment in the latest in cleaning technology and our quality assurance platform allows us to continuously provide high level services for our clients."

DRB has experienced a significant uptick in the higher education service sector - attributed not only to DRB's long-standing relationships with local universities but also to the return of students to the local campuses and recent openings and expansions.
