Frydryk semi-retires from Hancock Associates

January 26, 2024 - Front Section

Don Frydryk

Palmer, MA According to Hancock Associates, a leading provider of land surveying, civil engineering and wetland science services, Don Frydryk PE, PLS, has announced semi-retirement.

Frydryk joined Hancock Associates as a regional office manager when the firm acquired Sherman & Frydryk, LLC, a land surveying and civil engineering firm located in Palmer. He will continue in a smaller, part-time role as business development coordinator and focus on business development for Hancock's Western Mass. offices and mentoring staff.

"Don has always been a leader in the Central and West areas and his client list is exemplary. Don will continue to connect with his clients as he begins to step back from managing the office and wind down project management to focus more on business development and staff mentorship. It's great that he will continue to be on the Hancock team as he enjoys his semi-retirement," said Hancock Associates president, Wayne Jalbert, PLS.

Hancock Associates is made up of talented surveyors, engineers and scientists dedicated to excellence in land/coastal development, construction and preservation. They have maintained their position as an industry leader through their investment in exceptional staff, state-of-the-art equipment/technology and acquisition of multiple surveying and engineering firms, and historical survey records dating back to 1852.

Since 1978, Hancock Associates has been providing land surveying, civil engineering and wetland science services throughout Mass., N.H., Conn. and R.I. They value the long-term relationships they have with their clients served through their offices in Boston, Chelmsford, Danvers, Marlborough, Newburyport, Palmer and Princeton, Mass. and Concord, N.H.
