What has been the driving force behind your success in the AEC industry? As a designer specializing in housing, my success derives from my passion to create equitable and sustainable living spaces and the invaluable mentorship I've experienced throughout my career. Mentorship stands as the core of my success. At Amenta Emma, I am surrounded by a collective of creative minds and forward-thinking leaders, enriching not only the firm's work but also driving my personal journey towards success. Learning from empathic, curious and creative people has provided the knowledge and growth needed for me to be successful.
