Slag Cement Association welcomes CalPortland as new member

April 26, 2024 - National News

Farmington Hills, MI The Slag Cement Association (SCA) has added CalPortland as its newest member company. CalPortland, the largest building materials company in the western United States, now joins SCA, bringing its extensive operations across Alaska, Washington, Oregon, California, Nevada, and Arizona.

With a 130-year legacy of innovation, CalPortland emphasizes the importance of sustainability and resilience in concrete construction. They advocate for sustainable construction materials, including the use of slag cement, in shaping the future of our built environment.

“We are excited to have CalPortland to join the Slag Cement Association,” stated Nick Brimley, marketing director of SCA. “They are a strong advocate for the utilization of slag cement and their commitment to sustainable building practices aligns with SCA’s goal to reduce embodied carbon in our industry.”
