Maine Feature: Landry/French Construction hires Converse as director of preconstruction

February 07, 2025 - Northern New England

Derek Converse

Scarborough, ME Landry/French Construction has hired Derek Converse as director of preconstruction.

Converse brings over 30 years of experience in commercial construction, including serving as director of preconstruction for the past 12 years. Throughout his career, he has worked in various roles, including project manager, estimator, and preconstruction manager, giving him a well-rounded perspective on project delivery. His expertise spans a range of sectors, including academic, institutional, commercial, residential, hospitality, and historic projects.

As director of preconstruction, converse will oversee and expand Landry/French Construction's preconstruction and estimating services, focusing on early project planning, cost management, and collaboration to deliver accurate and reliable budgets aligned with client expectations.

Mason Rowell

"Adding Derek to our team enhances Landry/French's capacity to manage an increasing volume of complex projects while maintaining the precision and responsiveness our clients have come to expect," said Mason Rowell, Landry/French vice president of preconstruction. "His leadership and technical expertise will further strengthen our ability to meet the growing demands of the dynamic construction market."

Converse has a Civil Engineering Degree from the University of Illinois and a Master's in Construction Management from Purdue University.
