Gubbins rejoins BOND as director of client development

March 07, 2025 - Front Section

Bryan Gubbins

Boston, MA According to BOND Building Construction, Bryan Gubbins has returned as director of client development. Gubbins, who previously excelled in the role, re-joins the company after four years, bringing with him a wealth of experience and strategic leadership in key markets.

Most recently, Gubbins led Days Creek, LLC, providing strategic advice to construction management firms and governmental agencies in the healthcare, life sciences, corporate, and industrial sectors. Prior to that, he served as director of development at IQHQ, cultivating strong community and governmental partnerships for the prominent life science real estate investment trust.

“Bryan has an exceptional talent for building and sustaining relationships, coupled with a strategic mindset that drives value for our clients,” said Frank Hayes, president of BOND Building Construction. “His return to our team signals a pivotal moment in our continued upward trajectory as our project portfolio in the Northeast continues to expand. He is a longtime, trusted partner to the entire BOND family of companies, and we’re thrilled to welcome him back to the team.”

With an impressive track record of leadership and expertise across business development, real estate, and government relations, Gubbins’ return marks a significant milestone in BOND Building Construction’s continued growth following a record-breaking successful FY2024. As Director of Client Development, Gubbins will focus on critical markets for BOND, including corporate, life sciences, and industrial, to leverage deep industry insights and proven relationship-building expertise to execute upon the company’s development goals.

“It’s an honor to return to BOND Building and collaborate with such a talented, driven team,” said Gubbins. “I look forward to re-engaging with our clients, both existing and new, as we continue delivering excellence in some of the most vital sectors in the region.”

With a distinguished background in business development, real estate, and government relations, as well as academic achievements from Villanova University, Gubbins’ return signals an exciting chapter for BOND Building Construction as the company builds upon its legacy of excellence and innovation.
