Needham, MA Mike Kelly has been promoted to the role of project manager at Bowdoin Construction. In addition, Sinead Kelly has joined the firm as an assistant project manager.

Mike Kelly joined Bowdoin as an assistant project manager in October 2022. He has shown strong leadership capabilities as part of the project team on a number of high-profile projects across all of the market sectors. He is an effective communicator and problem-solver with a keen sense of client service.

Sinead Kelly has six years of construction industry experience. As an APM, Sinead assists in construction document coordination, works closely with project managers to expedite submittals and shop drawings, and provides close-out documentation to owners upon project completion.

“Mike is a valuable asset to project teams,” said Scott Harris, director of construction. “His attention to detail and commitment to getting the job done serve our clients well, and we are pleased to recognize and reward his contributions.”

“We are pleased to have Sinead on the Bowdoin team and look forward to seeing her further develop her project management skill-set,” said Harris.
