Landry/French Construction appoints Rowell as senior vice president of operations

June 06, 2025 - Northern New England

Mason Rowell

Scarborough, ME Landry/French Construction, one of Northern New England's leading construction management firms, has promoted Mason Rowell to senior vice president of operations.

Since joining the company in 2011 as an assistant project manager, Rowell has held several roles, including project manager, senior project manager, director of preconstruction, and most recently vice president of preconstruction. In his new role, Rowell will support operations, providing comprehensive leadership from project inception through completion. He will also continue to provide leadership of the preconstruction/estimating department, ensuring continuity across all phases of project delivery.

"Mason's deep experience, leadership, and commitment to excellence have played a critical role in our success," said Kevin French, chief executive officer. "I'm excited to see him step into this expanded role as we continue to grow and deliver complex projects throughout the region."

Rowell received a Master of Science in Construction Management from Wentworth Institute of Technology and served as a Captain in the United States Army Corps of Engineers. He is a board member of Associated Builders and Contractors (ABC) Maine.
