BOMA Boston presents the 2008 Building of the Year and Industry Awards to 19

December 02, 2008 - Owners Developers & Managers

The Building Owners and Managers Association of Boston (a division of the Greater Boston Real Estate Board) - which represents over 100 million s/f of commercial real estate space in downtown and suburban Boston, hosted its annual BOMA Boston TOBY and Industry Awards last month at the Westin Boston Waterfront Hotel.

The Office Building of the Year (TOBY) Awards recognize excellence in building operation and property management. Ten properties took home TOBY Awards. Seven individuals and companies were honored for their commitment to BOMA Boston and to the real estate industry. The night culminated with the BOMA Boston Industry Leadership Award, recognizing James Karman, vice chairman of Jones Lang LaSalle Americas. Over 400 people were on hand to celebrate the accomplishments.

"Real estate is one of Boston's biggest industries, and last week BOMA Boston recognized the outstanding individuals and companies who contribute to the success of commercial real estate," said BOMA Boston executive director Jeanne Wolf.

The list of winners included the first ever BOMA Boston Earth Award, given in recognition of sustainable building operations. This award went to BNY Mellon Center at One Boston Place, which recently became the first LEED EB O&M Gold Building certified in Boston.

According to BOMA Boston president Rob Brierley of Brookfield Properties, "BOMA Boston is proud of the accomplishments of our members, and of the contributions they make to the Greater Boston community through the properties they own and manage."
