Commercial Defeasance launches new website

January 22, 2009 - Front Section

Commercial Defeasance launched a new website at defeasewithease.com. The quick quote calculator received enhancements and remains the focal point of the site. It allows you to save multiple cost estimates and have them automatically updated with the push of a button.

John Hosmer, CEO at Commercial Defeasance said, "In today's challenging real estate market we continue to exceed our clients' needs and strive for the best customer service on every defeasance."
