Realty Development to exhibit modular homes

January 22, 2009 - Front Section

Realty Development Associates will be an exhibitor at The Boston Home Show January 23-25th at the Bayside Expo Center.

According to Realty Development president Don Shulman, the firm will highlight its new ENERGY STAR Certified modular homes during the home show.

"Energy-efficient or green construction is the right thing to do for the environment; and it represents a means for homeowners to realize savings for every year that they own their property," said Shulman.
