Whetten of GEI Consultants elected president of American Council of Engineering Companies - Conn. chapter

January 22, 2009 - Construction Design & Engineering

Nate Whetten, P.E., C.G. of GEI Consultants has been elected president of the Connecticut chapter of the American Council of Engineering Companies (ACEC), a national organization made up of more than 5,700 engineering firms throughout the country that supports and advocates the business interests of its member firms.

"I'm very pleased to have been elected to this position within ACEC-CT," said Whetten

Whetten is a senior project manager and senior associate for GEI and has over 25 years of experience as a geotechnical engineer working for consulting engineering firms. He has been on the ACEC-CT board of directors since 2001, previously serving as director, treasurer, and vice president.
