NAIOP and the Boston Business Journal to hold business conference

November 19, 2007 - Front Section

Changing tax laws, credit crunches, global investors, and more - this is a volatile time for capital markets in Massachusetts and across the country. Find out what is happening now and what to expect in the future at Money In/Money Out, a cutting-edge conference featuring some of the nation's top executives from the business and real estate communities. Presented November 7 by NAIOP Massachusetts and the Boston Business Journal, this half-day conference will provide a direct-from-the-source examination of the latest trends in capital markets.

Keynote Speakers:

- * Scott Sperling, co-president, T.H. Lee. Topic: Major Trends in Private Equity and Venture Capital Investments.
- * Michael Fascitelli, president, Vornado Realty Trust. Topic: The Changing Landscape of Real Estate Capital Markets.

Each keynote speaker will be followed by an all-star panel of leading private equity investors, venture capitalists, and national and international real estate executives discussing the latest developments in capital markets and how they impact business and real estate in Massachusetts today - and in the future. Visit www.naiopma.org for a full conference agenda, under events.
