Acumentrics Corporation (<http://www.acumentrics.com/>) is an industry leader in Solid Oxide Fuel Cells (SOFC) and Rugged Uninterruptible Power Supplies (Rugged-UPSTM) power supplies (UPS) for military and industrial power conditioning, backup, and other mission critical applications. The company's Rugged-UPSTM products are trusted in punishing environments with over 50,000 units deployed in military and industrial situations. Acumentrics' industry leading SOFC technology is based on a unique, durable, fuel-flexible, tubular ceramics-based technology and has exceeded performance standards in U.S. Department of Energy Solid-State Energy Conversion Alliance (SECA) Phase I tests. Acumentrics' SOFC systems have run for over 10,000 hours, have demonstrated the ability to operate for 1,000 hours on conventional JP-8 fuel and became the first biogas-fueled SOFC system in an installation at the innovative GlashusEtt environmental information center in Stockholm. Acumentrics is the recipient of a 2007 New England Innovation Award from the Smaller Business Association of New England.
